FAQs

If you cannot find the answer to your question here – please read the full Rainbow Run Safety Information Leaflet available on the HPS website here.

Is Ministry of Colours Holi colour powder safe? ∨

In a word, yes. Our colour powder is non-toxic. It is the safest colour powder currently available on the UK market. We work with our UK based supplier to ensure the quality of our colour powder. It is created in a factory in England, using vegetable starch and natural dyes to ensure the safest product possible. Read and download the Ministry of Colours Safety Data Sheet.

Does the colour powder stain clothing? ∨

Like any other colour powder, Ministry of Colours colour powder can stain clothing. Please be aware of this when using the colour powder and advise participants to wear clothing they don't mind having more colours on them after the event than before! If you are organising a colour powder event, why not have a branded T-Shirt as part of your event pack - it will provide a fun and lasting memento of the day?

Can I wash colour powder out of my hair? ∨

Yes you can!

- Brush your hair to remove excess powder
- Rinse your hair with cool water
- Wash using a good quality shampoo
- Rinse and repeat if required
- Condition and follow your normal hair care steps
- Your hair should now be free of colour powder

You can also use a conditioner/oil before the event. Apply liberally to your hair and leave in for the event. This helps create a barrier between the colour powder and your hair. Alternatively, wear a hat, scarf or even a shower cap to protect your hair. We think the wackier the better!!

How is your Holi colour powder made? ∨

Our colour powder is made the traditional way, just vegetable starch and natural vegetable, cosmetic or food-grade dyes. We have however gone that extra step to ensure our colour powder is safe and non-toxic. We thought this was essential to make our product perfect for the modern marketplace.

Is colour powder safe for children to use? ∨

Ministry of Colours colour powder is safe for everyone to use. However, we do recommend that younger children are not left alone to play with colour powder.
